Dear IFTA Member,

With the theme “The Power of Asia: Weaving Diverse Technical Traditions into One Market Language” this event stands at the forefront of today’s rapidly evolving global financial landscape where technical analysis plays an increasingly vital role in investment decision making.

Across regions, technical methodologies have developed uniquely from Japanese candlestick charting to well established Western approaches. However, these traditions often remain fragmented, presenting a significant opportunity for integration and collaboration.

The Asia Technical Analyst Summit 2026 is designed to bridge this gap. As a high level international forum, it brings together technical analysts, traders, academics, and financial institutions from across Asia to exchange insights, collaborate, and integrate diverse analytical approaches ranging from market cycles and behavioral psychology to modern data-driven strategies into a more unified framework.

More than just a conference, this summit represents a strategic movement to strengthen Asia's influence in global market analysis. It offers participants and partners a unique opportunity to connect with key industry players and contribute to shaping a more integrated, adaptive, and forward-looking financial ecosystem.
